

Child and Family Services Update

August 13, 2003

Administrative And Support Staff Training

By Kristine Palazzolo, Curriculum Developer

We are currently developing a five -day Practice Model training for administrative and support staff. Our goal is to have the training ready to offer starting the first part of September, and to have all of the administrative and support staff complete the training before the end of the year. The administrative team for the state is extremely supportive of this training initiative. In addition, region directors are in support of this training and the time it will take for our administrative and support staff to attend this training.

This training is being developed to apply the Practice Model skills to the various roles of administrative and support staff. Our goal is to incorporate the fundamental Practice Model skills in many aspects of our jobs and lives, uniting the organization in the basic concepts and principles of our Practice Model.